

KING ARTHUR

English Folk Song for Men's Voices (Unison)

Arranged by ALFRED WHITEHEAD

With humour

Voices

Piano

1. King Arthur rul'd the land, that he did And a mil - ler, he stole corn, that he did The right good rul - er was he, that he was. He had three sons of yore, And he weav - er, he stole yarn, that he did; And the lit - tle tail-or boy, He kick'd them to the door, Be - cause they would not sing, stole cor-du-roy To keep the oth-er fel-lows warm.

REFRAIN

Be - cause they would not sing, — Be - cause they would not —
To keep the oth-er fel-lows warm, — To keep the oth-er fel-lows sing, — He — had three sons of yore, And he kick'd them to the door, Be warm, — And the lit-tle tail-or boy, He stole cor-du-roy, To cause they would not sing. 2. The first he was a — keep the oth-er fel-lows warm. 4. The mil-ler he was drownd in his mil-ler, that he was; The sec - ond he — was a weav-er, that he was; And the dam, that he was; The weav-er he was hang'd with his yarn, that he was; But the third he was a lit-tle tail-or boy, With his broad-cloth under his arm.

devil ran a-way with the lit-tle tail-or boy, With the broad-cloth under his arm.

REFRAIN

With his broad-cloth un-der his arm, — With his broad-cloth un-der his
 With the broad-cloth un-der his arm, — With the broad-cloth un-der his arm: — And the third he was a lit-tle tail-or boy, With his arm; — But the dev-il ran way with the lit-tle tail-or boy, With the 1 broad-cloth un-der his arm. 2 ff slower The broad-cloth un-der his arm.