Diane Loomer, 1942-2012, was the first woman to publish with Alfred Publishing Choral Music.

This arrangement was performed at her funeral service by 200 singers to nearly 1,500 people who were gathered to honor her life and mourning their loss.

When she realized in middle age that she had a magic touch for giving voice to that ineffable "something" that we all seek, she spent the rest of her life joyfully and energetically nourishing it through choral music. She was the founder and artistic director of the Chor Leoni Men's Choir and the founder and artistic director of Elektra Women's Choir, now widely considered among the best in the world.

This piece is also available for SATB choir.
